(Madison, WI) - After passage of Assembly Bill 655 in the State Senate today, State Senator Leah Vukmir and State Rep. Joe Sanfelippo released to following statement:

“I’m happy to see Assembly Bill 655 pass the State Senate today. $160 million projects are few and far between around the state and the number of people continuing to look for work remains high. This bill will help create an environment which will foster the job creation of thousands of jobs, not only in Milwaukee, but for communities throughout Southeastern Wisconsin,” said Sanfelippo.

“This session, we have worked hard to improve our economic climate through the reduction of property and income taxes and reforming our regulatory climate,” said Vukmir. “Assembly Bill 655 would build upon those reforms and give the City and County of Milwaukee a direct shot in the arm of over $160 million in economic development and an estimated 4,000 family supporting jobs.”
